

INVITATION TO CONFERENCE ON 2 FEBRUARY 2012

One Europe – One Market

In 2012 the Single Market can celebrate its 20 year Anniversary. The Single Market has been a great success and brought prosperity and jobs. However, it is time to take stock of achievements and discuss the way forward.

In 20 years the Single Market should still be one market, including the digital world. This poses new challenges to respond to technological developments, and just as experienced during the last 20 years it requires commitment and basic respect for the main principles to ensure free movement. This is why the conference will also focus on the future challenges and growth potential, as taken up in the Digital Agenda.

Presently Europe suffers from financial turmoil. This makes it even more important to ensure the right framework for European business to create growth and jobs. To harvest the full potential of the Single Market, it is key to ensure a better transparency and governance of EU law and more exchange of best practices between the Member States.

The European Commission has relaunched the Single Market. Companies and consumers play an important role in realising the Single Market. Come and meet a number of the central players and discuss how to focus on the right priorities.
